MY 7-DAY FAMILY CARDS

Powered by Faith · Made for Families · Inspired by the Qur'an

A gentle seven-day journey for Muslim families. Each card carries one ayah, a daily affirmation, three simple actions and a short dua — helping children build safe, kind and balanced digital habits, one day at a time.

HOW TO USE THESE CARDS

1. Print pages 3 to 6 — in colour if you can, black and white works too.
2. Cut along the dashed lines. You will have seven cards, plus a family pledge card.
3. Read one card a day together, after a meal or before bed. Five minutes is plenty.
4. Say the affirmation aloud, agree the three actions, make the dua together.
5. Colour a star at the end of the day — one star for each action kept.
6. On day seven, sign the pledge card and put it somewhere everyone can see it.

A short note for parents

READ THIS ONCE BEFORE YOU BEGIN

These cards are not a lecture — they are seven short conversations. The aim is not for your child to memorise rules, but to connect what they already believe with what they do on a screen.

The seven days at a glance

Day	Theme	Who you become	Ayah	The habit it builds
1	Allah Sees Everything Online	The Mindful One	Al-Ḥadīd 57:4	Pausing before you click or post.
2	I Protect My Eyes & Heart	The Pure-Hearted	An-Nūr 24:30	Choosing what you watch, and closing what harms.
3	My Words Online Matter	The Kind Speaker	Al-Zalzalah 99:7	Re-reading a message before sending it.
4	Time Is a Trust from Allah	The Trustworthy One	Al-'Aṣr 103:1-2	Agreeing limits, and keeping ṣalāh first.
5	I Never Share My Secrets Online	The Careful One	Al-Baqarah 2:195	Guarding personal information from strangers.
6	Gaming With Balance Is Okay	The Balanced One	Al-Baqarah 2:143	Moderation — play is allowed, not unlimited.
7	I Am a Digital Champion	The Helper	Al-Mā'idah 5:2	Using the internet to benefit others.

WHY EACH CARD NAMES A CHARACTER

Each day names the kind of person your child becomes by keeping that habit. Children respond far better to "this is who I am" than to "this is the rule." Use the name out loud during the day: "that was The Careful One right there."

Making it work at home

- Five minutes, not fifty. Read it, say it, agree it, move on.
- Do the actions yourself too. Children copy what they see, not what they are told.
- Ask, don't inspect. A child who fears losing the device stops telling you things.
- Repeat the week. Most families run it two or three times a year, not once.

If your child tells you something difficult

- Thank them first. Always. Before anything else.
- Don't react to the content in front of them — react to their courage.
- Don't remove the device as a first response. It teaches silence.
- If it involves another child or an adult, contact the school or, in New Zealand, Netsafe.

A note on the verses

Each ayah is set in Arabic with full harakat, with a plain-English meaning and the sūrah and verse reference. Two points worth knowing before you teach them:

Card	Context you may want to give
Day 2 · An-Nūr 24:30	This ayah addresses believing men; the very next ayah, 24:31, gives the same instruction to believing women. If you have daughters, read both together.
Day 5 · Al-Baqarah 2:195	Revealed about spending in the path of Allah. It is applied here as the general principle scholars draw from it — that a believer does not knowingly walk into harm. Worth saying plainly to older children.

ABOUT THE DUA ON EACH CARD

The duas are short supplications in simple Arabic for children to say and remember. They are not narrated prophetic duas, and are not presented as such — a Muslim may ask Allah in any words. If your child prefers to make the dua in English, that is completely valid.

ONE THING THAT MATTERS MORE THAN THE CARDS

The strongest protection a child has online is the confidence that they can come to you with anything, and you will not overreact. If these seven days build only that, they have done their work.
